

CITIZENS' CONSTITUTIONAL ADVOCACY COMMITTEES

EXPLANATION OF CCAC 2.1

"As our opposition to the settled plan of the [] Administration[, Congress, and the Courts] to enslave America will be strengthened by a union of all ranks of men [and women, and their children] in [this nation, and every State], we do most earnestly recommend that all former differences about [all less important issues, such as] religion or politics, and all private animosities and quarrels of every kind, from henceforth cease and be forever buried in oblivion; and we entreat, we conjure every [lawful American citizen] by his [or her] duty to God, his [or her] country, and his [or her] posterity, cordially to unite in defense of our common rights and liberties."

(Taken verbatim, except for words in [brackets], from the Maryland Resolves, December 12, 1774.)

A grossly perpetrated ignorance is propagated upon us as Americans through our schools, government, media, religious and civic institutions, and professional organizations. Such is illustrated by the fact that an organization was founded and structured by "the Articles of Association of 1774", which was specifically identified by President Abraham Lincoln in his first Inaugural Address. Lincoln stated as follows, also quoted verbatim:

"Descending from these general principles, we find the proposition that in legal contemplation the Union is perpetual confirmed by the history of the Union itself. The Union is much older than the Constitution. It was formed, in fact, by the Articles of Association in 1774. (Emphasis added.) It was matured and continued by the Declaration of Independence in 1776. It was further matured, and the faith of all the then thirteen States expressly plighted and engaged that it should be perpetual, by the Articles of Confederation in 1778. And finally, in 1787, one of the declared objects for ordaining and establishing the Constitution was 'to form a more perfect Union.'"

Yet, if "the Union" "was formed, in fact, by the Articles of Association in 1774", why is it that for the most part, no education of significant substance or merit has ever been given to our elementary or secondary students over the course of the past hundred years or more in the schools of America about this "Association" in any civics, American history, "social studies", or government classes? (Or private schools for that matter?)

In fact, according to the Library of Congress, "Throughout the fall of 1774 and winter of 1775, most colonial legislatures (New York excepted) endorse the body's proceedings. Nearly 7,000 individuals across the colonies are elected to committees created to uphold the Association."

In the spirit of this founding body, "the Association", which was responsible for the forming of the "Great Continental Congress", which led to the writing of and proclamation of the Declaration of Independence, we now invite all of "the good people" of the United States, known as "We the People" in our U.S. Constitution to take the following Oath or Affirmation and join us in the establishment of the Citizens' Constitutional Advocacy Committees of their State, or other, with the purpose of public recognition through official public rolls.

The great Spanish-American philosopher, George Santayana wrote the epic words in his book, Life of Reason (1905), "Those who fail to remember the past are condemned to repeat it." Should we not take the proper and equivalent steps of our founding generation to act in similar community self-interest to provide for our safety and security, then we will not have any excuses when things become unraveled.
